- 68 COVID Plans reviewed
- 3 COVID plans in March
- COVID Coordinator training program is now under development!
- The word "event" in the latest order allowing 10 people to meet is causing all sorts of confusion.
- Unending requests for the industry to open along side faith based events.

Outreach in the last 7 days:

- 4 video calls
- 172 attendees
- Met with PHO representative, had great conversations! Looking forward to the next one.
- Collaborated with CITT and SMarts on reopening plans at educational facilities
- Presented at a US national education conference (USITT)

The Message:

- Don't look for loopholes!
- No, the word "event" in the order does NOT mean you can host concerts for 10 people and charge $100/head!

Thanks so much for supplying a member of your team to talk through our concerns. Have a great week!

The screenshot shows the BC Liquor Stores website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'My Cellar', 'WINE', 'BEER', 'SPIRITS', 'COOLERS & CIDERS', 'SALE', 'TASTE', 'EVENTS', and 'STORES'. A search bar on the right says 'Find a product'. Below the navigation is a large green banner for 'HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S DAY' with the text 'Raise a glass. Sláinte!' and an illustration of a beer mug and a shot glass. A yellow circle on the right of the banner says 'Stores closing at 7:45 p.m. on March 17'. Below the banner is a 'Shop now' button and a carousel of product categories: 'BCL SELECT', 'SALE', and 'NEW'. The 'BCL SELECT' category is highlighted, showing several product images with 'BCL SELECT' banners: a wine bottle, a bottle of Artus, a 12-pack of Steamworks beer, and a 15-can pack of Guinness Extra Stout.

Happy St Patty's Day! Consume responsibly!
